

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Elite Luxury Homes becomes a registered Green Builder through the city of Scottsdale, Arizona.

March 2005 - Elite Luxury Homes builds homes with energy efficiency in mind and this resulted in the City of Scottsdale adding the Scottsdale company to their list of registered Green Builders. To qualify for the Green Building program the builder must utilize high efficient products to lessen the impact on the environment while helping to save limited resources. Furthermore, the design of the house and how the sun impacts the living space is critically analyzed to reduce sun exposure and heat exposure to living areas. This analysis can greatly decrease the average energy bills while creating a much more enjoyable and stable setting.

Elite Luxury Homes standard of utilizing high efficiency Trane systems, Tyvek home wrap, insulation at the roof deck, and blown cellulose Elite is able to significantly increase the homes efficiency. "Our clients are highly educated and understand the value of long term weatherproofing. With our extreme temperatures providing efficiency as an upgrade would be a disservice to our clients. We feel we have an obligation to provide the most efficient home possible while still fitting into our clients budget." Chris Nelson, President.

Elite's standard of installing a fresh air intake system significantly increases the air quality of the home by avoiding the normal recirculation of particles. The fresh air intake improves the average home air quality for both allergy and non allergy sufferers.
